Dear students, faculty, and staff of the School of Kinesiology -

As you are well aware, we are in uncharted territory in our response to COVID-19 and our mission to continue to support learning, teaching, and research.

Library resources and your team of informationists (Jacqueline Freeman and LaTeesa James) are still available to you:

- Library resources can be accessed from anywhere via the library website. The "Frequently Used Databases" on the left navigation offers quick access to many of the most important citation databases for the health sciences, including PubMed and SportDiscus
- The Kinesiology Research Guide provides a set of curated resources for getting started with research in kinesiology.
- For faculty, there are a number of resources to assist you in moving your course content online.
- Jackie and LaTessa are available to meet virtually by BlueJeans, Zoom, or Google Hangouts. Email to set up a meeting or email your questions. Many questions/issues can be addressed via email and may not require a meeting.
  Other more in depth requests for research support can be accommodated through a virtual meeting.

While our contact with you may look a little different in the short term, we are still here remotely and library resources are still available to you. Please do not hesitate to reach out.
